David Knox has returned to his native Oklahoma after spending 20 years in Atlanta where he worked first as a commercial photographer in the areas of fashion and advertising and later as a fine art photographer specializing in landscapes and alternative processes. For the past decade Knox has traveled the back roads of the American South documenting the region's architectural ruins, landscapes, and people. His current work combines 19th, 20th and 21st century processes in single image and collage and he exhibits his work in Atlanta.
